SANTOS-DUMONT SAYS HE EXPECTS TO FLY FROM PARIS

TO NEW YORK IN TWO DAYS—WILL TRY CORSICA FIRST.

Santos-Dumont Explaining His Balloon to Professor Langley.

Paris, Oct. 28.—Santos-Dumont, the first aeronaut who has been able, after voyaging several miles in the air, to return to his starting point, has vast projects in contemplation. He was still fatigued after Saturday's trying experience when a correspondent found him in bed this morning, but talked freely about his plans.

"First of all, I am going down to the Riviera to continue my experiments there. I shall build a shed on the coast, take my airship apparatus and workmen with me and make for Corsica on a given day. I shall ask the postal authorities to give me a message for delivery at a certain point on the island, and shall race the mail boat, and, what is more, I shall beat it."

NO FEAR OF THE SEA.

"I am not afraid of falling into the sea. I shall not drown, for my apparatus will be enveloped in a covering of impermeable silk and I shall float. Afterward I shall try to cross the Mediterranean to Tunis. If I be successful in these trips I shall consider the possibility of crossing the Atlantic."

"I believe the voyage to America could be done in a smaller balloon than that employed by Zeppelin on Lake Geneva. I should use petroleum as fuel and a powerful motor giving several hundred horse-power. The question of fuel is the greatest difficulty, but that problem will be solved in time. What would Fulton have said if he had been told that a steamship one day would carry engines of 40,000 horse power?

"My present airship is propelled by an eighteen horse power motor, but we are only on the threshold of the science of aerial navigation, and none can say how many thousand horse power the motor of the steerable balloon of the future will develop. Powerful motors are lighter proportionately than smaller ones.

My views of air navigation are diametrically opposed to those of Count De la Vaulx, whose aerial trips on the shores of the Mediterranean was such a fiasco. Instead of keeping close to the surface of the sea, I would rise to the height of say 5,000 yards, where among the opposing air currents I could select the one best suited to my purpose, so that I should not have to fight my way against a head wind, but be blown by a friendly current toward my destination.

"It will take me considerable less time to go from Europe to America than a transatlantic liner. If I had a strong, steady wind behind me such as sometimes blows across the Atlantic, I might go from Paris to New York in two days. I would not go alone, as such a voyage would demand at least half a dozen men to manœuvre the balloon and sleep by turns. As to when I shall carry passengers from Cherbourg to New York is a mere detail.

"Up to the present, aeronauts have gone away into space, not knowing where they would land or whether they would ever be heard of, but I have given rendezvous and kept them. I have gone away and returned to the starting place. Crossing the Atlantic is not the chimera it may appear. I believe it can be done and I hope to try it."

DEFIED

Order of the Catholic Church.

Excommunicated Priest Attended Mass.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—(Spl.)—As an excommunicated priest, d-listed of every right to claim membership in the Roman Catholic church, Father Jeremiah J. Crowley defied the order of the highest tribunal of the Catholic church in Chicago yesterday and attended mass at St. Peter's church and the Holy Name Cathedral. Several ushers who saw him enter hurried to the sacristy and informed Father Francis J. Barry, the chancellor of the diocese, that Father Crowley was in the congregation. Instead of attempting to exclude the excommunicated priest, Father Barry said simply: "Close your eyes on him," and the services proceeded.

Christmas Presents For 850 Orphans at Xenia.

Mr. J. H. Seymour will go to Xenia tonight to meet there tomorrow other members of the committee appointed by Department Commander E. F. Taggart to visit the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' home for a conference regarding the Christmas presents for the 850 boys and girls in the institution. A list of the presents wanted has been prepared by the matrons of the 32 cottages. Seven tenths of the children ask for books. One boy wants "Peck's Bad Boy." Another wants "David Harum," and some want skates and games. The girls want books as a rule, or a year's subscription to some magazine. The Grand Army in Ohio will pay for the presents to be bought, the cost of which will be in the neighborhood of $700. For years the Grand Army has given Christmas presents to the Orphans and the holiday season is looked forward to eagerly at the Home. The members of the purchasing committee besides Mr. Seymour are J. B. Taylor Wooster; Dr. O. W. Weeks, Marion; T. O. Collins, Springfield; M. M. Murphy, Mt. Vernon.

AKRON MAN

Will Return Home With a Michigan Bride.

In reporting the marriage of Mr. E. C. Labadie, manager of the Western Union Telegraph office in Akron, to Miss Lena Rayner at Emanuel Episcopal church in Potosky, Mich., the Potosky Independent Democrat says: "The church was beautifully decorated and long before the appointed hour the ushers, Messrs. Frank L. Sanford, Geo. Eckel, Roy Rayner and Roy Rudbeck, had been busy seating the guests. Promptly at 7:30, as the first strains of the wedding march were played, Miss Worden at the organ, and Prof. Weaver, violin, Rev. J. W. Armstrong, the groom and his best man, Mr. Edward D. Caskey, advanced to the altar. At the same moment the bridal procession started slowly up the aisle, two pretty flower girls, Isabelle Middleton and Ella Hoyt, gowned in dainty, white frocks, leading. Behind them came Mr. Roy Rayner and Miss Cora Lynn and Mr. Roy Rudbeck and Miss Lida Martin. Following these attendants came the maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Hastings, who wore a beautiful gown of pink, carrying pink carnations. Then came the bride on the arm of her mother, Mrs. Frank Hoyt, who gave her away.

"The rest of the ceremony was conducted by Rev. J. W. Armstrong according to the impressive Episcopal ritual. The ring service was used and the responses were plainly uttered. The bride wore a beautiful trained gown of delicate gray silk, trimmed exquisitely in lace and chiffon, and she carried bride's roses.

"Then came an elaborate wedding dinner faultlessly served to about 75 guests at the Eureka Cafe, by Caterer Braun. The tables were beautifully decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums, candelabra and ferns. Small souvenir boxes of wedding cake were the favors. Congratulatory telegrams were read by Prof. Graves.

"Mr. and Mrs. Labadie left on the 10:30 train for the south, showered with the good wishes of their friends who assisted in getting them off in true bridal fashion. Certain it is—if old shoes, rice, white ribbons, big placards, etc. have anything to do with the success of their lives—there is a glorious future for them.

"The wedding gifts were especially numerous and beautiful. Mr. and Mrs. Labadie will be at home after Nov. 1, at the Windsor, Akron, O., in which city the groom is manager of Western Union Telegraph interests."

Relatives of Jeremiah Duggan Says He Has Been Located.

A photograph of Jeremiah Duggan, who, it was thought might be the man who has been lying at Parks' morgue awaiting identification since last Tuesday, was received by Mr. Parks, Saturday and all who saw the picture were confident that the mystery was solved.

The picture and the appearance of the man coincided exactly and word was sent to Duggan's home in Toronto, Can., notifying Duggan's relatives of the fact.

All calculations were upset Monday, however, by the receipt of a telegram from Duggan's relatives saying the
